"I asked you, Mother, I begged,
But I couldn't convince you
Not to marry me off so early,
Not this year
Neither this spring or this summer
Not before autumn comes,
Autumn, dear Mother,
When the girls start gathering
At working parties and dances
So that I could go freely
With my trimmings and adornments.
But you didn't listen
And married me off too early."

pronounce final -h's, sort of like German "ich"
